| Problems Solved | Organizations invest substantially in learning and development programs to drive higher productivity, engagement and retention. Yet most organizations report a low return on investment with traditional “formal” L&D programs. Chronus helps organizations improve the effectiveness of learning by enabling people to learn how they learn best – from each other and through guided learning experiences. Because no single approach covers an organization’s development needs, Chronus supports a wide variety of learning programs mentoring, coaching and onboarding all with an easy-to-manage cloud-based software solution. For corporations and governments, Chronus offers a software-driven talent development framework to create effective programs for employee career development, new hire training, leadership development, diversity training and other initiatives. For higher education and associations, Chronus provides a software-driven framework to connect students, alumni, and organization members for career planning, development, and networking. In all cases, Chronus software improves program efficiency and reduces cost while making participant learning effective through an engaging learning experience and a structured learning format. |
